SUFFRAGETTES CHAINED.

The preceding in the British house of commons during the consideration of the licensing bill were diversified startlingly last night by a suffragette speaking from the women's gallery. She demanded that the women of England be allowed to vote and thrust through the grille a placid, on which the demands of the suffragettes were emblazoned.

Mr. Remnant, who was speaking on the licensing bill, attempted to continue his oratory, but the cries continued from the gallery. The members were confounded further by a man throwing down a bundle of papers, at the same time crying:

"I am a man and I protest against injustice to women."

The ejection of the male disturber was followed by sounds of a desperate struggle in the women's gallery, where it was discovered that two suffragettes had chained themselves to the grille. They continued to cry, "We demand votes for women."

Eventually the attendants who were unable to release the women from their self-fastened chains, were obliged to remove a part of the grille before they could eject the suffragettes, who were Muriel Manners and Helen Fox.

Both of the offenders were laughing heartily when they were escorted by a posse of policemen, one of the officers carrying that part of the grille to which the women were chained. They were conducted into a committee room, and workmen were summoned to file off the iron from the chains, which were securely padlocked around the women's waists.

Ten minutes later there was another dramatic scene, a man in the strangers' gallery flinging another bundle of bills down upon the house and shouting:

"Why don't you give women votes and relieve the unemployed?" After a desperate struggle, the attendants succeeded in ejecting the man.

About the same time a large body of suffragettes made a demonstration outside the parliament building and fifteen of them were arrested.

The speaker has decided that the strangers' gallery and the women's gallery shall be closed until further orders.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup does not constitute like most of the old-fashioned cough cures, but on the other hand it gently moves the bowels and at the same time heals irritation and allays inflammation of the throat. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

VICTIM OF DELIRIUM TREMENS.

Charles Roman gives a record of his own experience as a victim of delirium tremens. Following is a brief extract from the American Magazine which gives some suggestion of the things the patient saw:

"Up to this point the zoological visitations had been intermittent. During the next few days, however, I saw all that I could stand. I saw such prehistoric creatures as exist nowhere except in museums. I saw rats as they marched past my door, or flew through my windows, or floated in my tub. Elephants strode in and out with lumbering steps and swaying trunks. At times they seated themselves and taunted me with their ear-splitting screechings. They flaunted their shouts high in the air and guffawed. Monkeys jumped from limb to limb in the trees outside my rooms.

"Snakes of all colors, of all descriptions, reptiles with fantastic figures upon their backs, and with eyes of sapphire or ruby or of milk-white marble, wriggled upon the floor or crept in or out of heretofore unseen crevices in the walls, and dropped into the water in my tub. They swam around and around me, squirming under me, with their tongues darting in and out with ferocious activity. Lions I heard roaring, and tigers I saw while they opened their mouths like huge cats, in silent angry disapproval, licking their whiskers and wetting their paws, softly and daintily. This and far more.

"I saw crocodiles in droves. Fat, scaly glistening beasts they were, with frothy, foaming jaws, long sweeping tails, crouching upon or creeping along the foot of my bathtub or on my bed, and grinding their yellow teeth in glutinous anger as they contemplated me, their prey. I saw the reeking, slippery body of a crocodile slide into the water of my tub. Then as I shrank in breathless horror to escape, I saw his greedy, filmy eyes arise to the surface, with his cold, fount with mine. His icy back touched my cheek, the hot vapor from his lungs seared my flesh. I turned as cold as ice and trembled like a leaf in a storm."

DeWitt's Little Early Rider, the famous little liver pills. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

For Chronic Diarrhoea. "While in the army in 1863 I was taken with chronic diarrhoea," says George M. Felton of South Gibson, Pa. "I have since tried many remedies but without any permanent relief, until Mr. A. W. Miles, of this place, persuaded me to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, one bottle of which stopped it at once." For sale by W. F. Creighton & Company and Richard Gibson.

The Industrial Chemical Company of Richmond, maximum capital $20,000,000, has been granted a charter. Its purpose, it is said, is to run in opposition to the monopoly now held by the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company.

Why Clothing

Is it that there is an occasional howl about the poor quality of goods sold by firms? The reason is that such business houses have no future and want to "get theirs," no matter what the purchasers receive.

Our Motto

Is to recommend to you something we can guarantee and sell to you, whether you live in the city or country, exactly what we SHOW YOU.

Some One

Has said that we were not particular about the trade of Alexandria city, and we want the people here to know that such statement is absolutely false.

A Business Man

Would be an idiot to come to a city, invest money in heavy expenses, including taxes and other things, and then even intimate such a statement as this.

We Desire Your Trade

In Liquors and to that end we intend to publish every day and our line of goods and invite you to call and look them over.
